Daily I look to empathize with the needs of our clients and to develop investment solutions or analytical solutions to help them meet the whole host of issues that they are dealing with on a regular basis.

Jill Ricci

Partnering with our clients, for me, means that I am going to put myself in my clients' shoes and to meet their needs and requests timely, accurately and thoroughly and beyond that I am going to try to anticipate their needs and communicate proactively.

Douglas J. Yoder

I have a lot of opportunities to interact with our clients and my background in customer service has really instilled within me the importance of customer service and approaching our clients with a can-do and "how can I help?" attitude.

I take pride in cultivating meaningful relationships with my clients and colleagues. For NEAM to do our best work on behalf of our clients, we really have teams of seasoned professionals that collaborate and work together like a well-oiled machine.
